LUFTWAFFE OPERATIONS IN THE WEST

1943 to 1945

Volume XV

STRATEGIC CONCENTRATION OF AAA AND FLYING UNITS IN THE WEST

(Luftwaffe Command West Command Area)

September 1944 to May 1945

P.R.G.

Compiled on the basis of German documents
by Generalleutnant (ret) Beppo Schmid,
former Commanding General, I Fighter Corps,
and subsequently Commander in Chief,
Luftwaffe Command West.

PREFACE

In view of the Luftwaffe chain of command during World War II, the report "Luftwaffe Operations in the West, 1943 to 1945" had been divided into two parts, namely,

"Aerial Warfare in the West"        and
"Reich Air Defense".

The large volume of source material required and the difficulties in procuring it, made it impossible to compile this report in chronological order. The author was compelled to concentrate first on those phases for which sufficient source material could be made available in time. Therefore, the first part deals with air defense operations during the period from 15 September 1943 to 1 July 1944; it comprises four volumes, including four volumes of appendixes.

Considerable credit is due to General der Flieger (ret) Paul Deichmann who, through his liberal procurement of extensive source material, made it possible to begin work, in summer 1954, on the following main basic outlines:

Command Structure in the West,
Organizational Structure of Flying Units in the West ,
Strategic Concentration of Flying Units in the West,
Strategic Concentration of AAA Units in the West, Strategic Concentration of Flying and AAA Units in the West (Luftwaffe Command West Command Area).

Volume XV describes the

Strategic Concentration of Flying and AAA Units in the West (Command Area of Luftwaffe Command West) .

presented in deployment outlines covering the period from 22 September 1944 to 7 May 1945, and based solely on German documents.

On hand of the available source material it becomes apparent that the various concentration movements were organized according to the following schedule:

Flying Units: 4 days of assembly in 1944 and
3 days of assembly in 1945.

AAA Units: 7 days of assembly in 1944 and 4 days of assembly in 1945.

In order to complete the picture of the then prevailing AAA defense movements setup, the strategic concentration/ of the AAA units of the Navy also have been taken into account, as far as available documents have made this possible.

The definition tables included in this volume are designed to facilitate the task of evaluating the strategic concentration movements of flying and AAA units in the west. Owing to <sup>the</sup> ~~these~~ <sup>of these tables</sup> abbreviated form/ it is not, however, possible to dispense with the study of the organizational structure of these units. Volume XV includes 22 sketches showing the deployment of flying units and 17 sketches showing the deployment of AAA units.

The source material used for the compilation of the various deployment outlines consisted chiefly of Luftwaffe High Command situation maps which were available in the original as well as <sup>microfilms,</sup> ~~as~~ photostats, and tracings. Additional documents used for this purpose have been mentioned in the list of source material.

Volume XV does not provide a complete picture of the strategic concentration of AAA and flying units in the west, because the necessary data is lacking, namely, all daily situation maps covering the period in question and issued by the Luftwaffe High Command or the various command agencies in the west. ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ Nevertheless, this volume presents an extensively documented outline of the strategic concentration of flying and AAA units in the west.

It has been possible to obtain only partial information concerning the actual strength of flying units available at the time, whereas the report on the number of AAA units is practically complete. On the other hand, many deployment outlines fail to list the concentration points of the AAA units. However, the AAA concentration areas may be ascertained from the deployment maps.

Although barely legible or damaged microfilms and situation map photostats may result in minor errors in the figures listed, this will not ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ affect the historic accuracy of the overall picture.

Although the phases of concentration of flying units within the command area of Luftwaffe Command West during the last months of the war are not included, this volume on the whole constitutes an important basis for the evaluation of Luftwaffe operations conducted against the Allies in the west from 1943 to 1945.

The evaluation of all air and AAA situation maps was carried out by Generalmajor (ret) Walter Graumann. He thus played an important part in the compilation of this volume, and the author is greatly indebted to him for his efforts.
